Established over 17 years, Huada Chinese Academy has become one of the most famous private Chinese language schools in the San Francisco Bay Area. Huada Chinese Academy is a California-registered bilingual community school and accredited by many public and private school systems. We primarily promote Chinese culture and language education. Located at Lowell high school, the best public high school in San Francisco, our well-equipped facility and scholastic environment are conducive to students' learning. Our reputation has been widely recognized by parents and students.

For parents who want their children to learn Han Yu Pin Yin, simplified characters, and the Chinese culture, Huada Chinese Academy is the best choice. Huada Chinese Academy is staffed with the most experienced Chinese language teachers to provide comprehensive, high quality education for students. We strive to develop diverse Chinese courses and commit to total digital student record management.
